To the student

If you are going to take the Cambridge First Certificate exam, you will find the tests in this book very helpful. They will help you practise a lot of the structures and language that you will need in the Use of English paper. Many of them also have useful information on what examiners are looking for.

There are two parts to the book:

The first part (sections 1–4) gives practice in the most important areas of language relevant to the exam as a whole. Sections 1–3 cover verb constructions such as phrasal verbs and verb + noun combinations; use of prepositions; and sentence construction. Section 4 deals with common problems, such as the use of make and do, some and any, and when to use the infinitive (do, to do) or the -ing form (doing).

The second part (sections 5–9) deals with particular tasks in the Use of English paper, namely:

- cloze texts with multiple choice to test knowledge of vocabulary
- cloze texts without multiple choice to test structural words and collocations (words that go together, such as make a promise, tell a lie, go to bed)
- sentence transformation
- error correction
- word building.

There are also two tests (59 and 60) which deal specifically with grammatical terminology, including the names of tenses.

There is a key at the back of the book so that you can check your answers.

You don't need to work through every test in this book. Instead, you can concentrate on those areas where you feel you need more practice.

Don't forget to keep a record of new items that you come across, and try to use these items as much as possible before the exam. In particular, we suggest that you don't just note down a new word or expression, but that you also write and learn a phrase containing it. For example, don't just write on purpose: put it in a sentence like I'm sorry I broke your glasses, but it was an accident: I didn't do it on purpose.

If you want to improve your vocabulary for FCE as well as your grammar, you might like to use the Penguin book which accompanies this one. It's called Test Your Vocabulary for FCE. There are several other titles in the Test Your series which you will also find useful, including Test Your Phrasal Verbs and Test Your Prepositions.

Good luck in the exam!

Peter Watcyn-Jones Jake Allsop

Verbs

When you are revising verbs, the things to concentrate on are:

- Form

Think about which verbs take -s and which take -es, e.g. read-reads; watch-watches. Learn the irregular verbs: you can categorize them according to how they change, e.g., AAA (no change), as in put-put-put; ABC (three different forms), as in speak-spoke-spoken; ABA, as in come-came-come.

- Tenses

Remember that the tense of a verb is not just about time, i.e., I did it yesterday, I will do it tomorrow; but also about our attitude to the event. For example, there is a difference between What did you do today? and What have you done today? The simple past asks about what a person did e.g. at work today, assuming that work is finished for today; the present perfect is asking what the person has done so far today and what effect that has on the present. Think, too, of the difference between He'll do it and He's going to do it; or What do you do? and What are you doing?

- Verb phrases

Verbs are often in collocations, i.e., set expressions with other words, for example:

with nouns: to take place, to make fun of

with adjectives: to turn red, to go sour, to run dry

The most common and most useful are probably phrasal verbs, for example:

with adverb to stand up, to go away with preposition to look for (something), to bump into (someone)

'What have you done today?'

Fill in the verbs

Put the verbs in brackets in the passage below into the correct tenses. There is an example at the beginning (0).

THE CAR THIEF

My cousin and her husband live in Hanwell, one of the suburbs of London. One morning they (0) woke up (wake up) to find to their dismay that their car (1) _____ (steal) from outside their house. They immediately (2) _____ (phone) the police to report the theft, before (3) _____ (leave) for work by bus.

When they (4) _____ (return) home later the same day, they (5) _____ (find) to their surprise that their car (6) _____ (bring back) and was parked in its usual place outside their house. Under one of the windscreen wipers (7) _____ (be) a small envelope.

They quickly (8) _____ (open) it and (9) _____ (find) a note (10) _____ (apologize) profusely for 'borrowing' their car. The man who (11) _____ (write) it explained that he (12) _____ (not have) a car himself, and his wife (13) _____ (go) into labour in the middle of the night with their first baby. So he (14) _____ (hope) they (15) _____ (not mind) too much that he (16) _____ (take) their car without their permission in order to run her to the hospital, as it was something of an emergency.

By way of compensation, he (17) _____ (enclose) two tickets for the West End show Sunset Boulevard on Saturday evening. They (18) _____ (be) both delighted as they loved Andrew Lloyd Webber's music and (19) _____ (try) for ages to get tickets to this particular musical.

It was a perfect evening. They (20) _____ (have) front row seats and the show itself was every bit as good as they (21) _____ (expect). They (22) _____ (be) in such a good mood after it that they (23) _____ (decide) to go for a meal at their favourite Italian restaurant. When they eventually (24) _____ (get) home just after midnight, a new shock (25) _____ (await) them. While they were away, their house (26) _____ (burgle)! Everything of value (27) _____ (steal). They (28) _____ (know) immediately who the thief was because (29) _____ (lie) on the kitchen table was a note in handwriting they (30) _____ (recognize), (31) _____ (say):

HOPE YOU (32) _____ (enjoy) THE SHOW!

 Read the whole text through first before you decide which tense to use. Think about the context (the rest of the sentence/text), the time of the event and attitude (how you view the event). For example, in number 19 the choices could be 1 tried, 2 were trying, 3 had tried and 4 had been trying. All are possible, but 3 and 4 both indicate the time best (past perfect because we want to show what had happened before they got the tickets). Number 4 emphasises how long it can take to get tickets, so, had been trying is the best choice here.

SECTION 1

Choose the correct verb

Read through the sentences below, then decide which answer, A, B, C or D, best fits each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Choose the alternative that fits grammatically into the sentence.

- 0 John told me that he was ill.
A told B explained C said D reported
- 1 His parents wouldn't _____ him stay out later than 10.30 at night.
A allow B permit C agree D let
- 2 The police _____ him for burglary.
A arrested B charged C convicted D accused
- 3 Many people _____ about the bad behaviour of soccer fans in the town centre after the match.
A criticized B disapproved C complained D objected
- 4 I never wear red. It's a colour that just doesn't _____ me.
A go with B suit C match D take to
- 5 See if you can _____ Joe to do his share of the housework.
A get B have C make D try
- 6 The train was _____ from leaving because of a signal failure.
A prevented B forbidden C detained D cancelled
- 7 After a lot of difficulty he finally _____ to start the car.
A succeeded B coped C managed D worked out
- 8 The manager asked her to _____ with the complaint.
A take care B attend C deal D follow

- 9 If you want a bank loan, I _____ you to try the National Bank.
A advise B suggest C propose D insist
- 10 I _____ the meeting to him the other day. I wonder why he didn't turn up.
A mentioned B warned C reminded D pointed
- 11 Combining our two incomes will _____ us to get a bigger loan from the bank.
A guarantee B ensure C enable D confirm
- 12 'Did you _____ to put the cat out?'
'I didn't know it was on fire!'
A recall B remember C remind D recollect
- 13 Is she just _____ to be crazy, or is she really mad?
A imagining B faking C asserting D pretending
- 14 Am I happy? It all _____ on what you mean by 'happy'!
A includes B relates C concerns D depends
- 15 I _____ you enjoy the play, Mr Lincoln.
A wish B hope C want D expect

In this kind of test (multiple choice), all the alternatives (A, B, C, D) have similar meanings and are therefore easily confused, but only one fits grammatically. For example, in question 1 you cannot say He explained me that..., He said me that... or He reported me that... (You can only say He explained to me that ..., He said that ... [without me] and He reported to me that ...), so only He told me that ... is grammatically correct.

3 Phrasal verbs 1: break, bring, call, come

A Complete the sentences below with a suitable phrasal verb using break. There is an example at the beginning (0).

0 I'm going to have to change my car. It keeps on breaking down !

1 The two countries have _____ diplomatic relations.

2 Thieves _____ at the weekend and stole two valuable paintings.

4 You haven't told me everything, have you? You're still _____ something _____.

Without looking back at exercises A–D, write the correct phrasal verb (fall, get, go or keep) next to the following definitions. (They are in no particular order).

- 1 be connected (by telephone) _____
- 2 match (style, colour) _____
- 3 maintain same speed, level as others _____
- 4 reach (e.g. something on a high shelf) _____
- 5 be deceived by (e.g. a false story) _____
- 6 return (e.g. from a holiday) _____
- withhold (information) _____
- avoid a subject _____
- 9 go bad (food, milk) _____
- 10 depress, demoralise _____
- 11 quarrel _____
- 12 pass (time) _____

5 Phrasal verbs 3: look, put, take

A Complete the sentences below with a suitable phrasal verb using look. There is an example at the beginning (0).

- 7 kill humanely (a pet) _____
- 8 take care of, care for (someone) _____
- 9 resemble (in looks, talent) _____
- 10 remember the past _____

One way to work on your knowledge of phrasal verbs is to draw a matrix like the one below and, using a good EFL dictionary, see how many combinations you can find.

	away	across	down	in	off	up
break	✓ cut give keep fall
see hold

Prepositions

- Prepositions show relationships of various kinds:

Time:	after the show, during the weekend
Place:	in the garden, under the bridge
Subject matter:	a book about insects, a lecture on DNA testing
Opposition:	women against war
Reaction:	amazed at something
Means, method:	travel by bus, start by making a list of things to do
Manner:	with pleasure, without thinking
Purpose:	I did it for the money, I did it for you
Origin:	I am from Madrid, made out of old bottles, made of plastic

- Many expressions involve the use of prepositions:

with verbs:	look after, deal with
with nouns:	by mistake, out of order
with adjectives:	allergic to, jealous of

Note, too, the compound prepositions such as in spite of, with regard to, by way of.

'He's allergic to cats.'

8 Prepositional phrases

A Here are thirty words and phrases in alphabetical order. Put them under the correct preposition. Some of them can be used with more than one preposition. There is an example at the beginning.

a change a diet a hurry air all means breath business date fire first heart hire holiday hospital instance last mistake ~~night~~ once order particular private purpose sale sight
 the moment the ordinary trouble work luck

AT night	BY	FOR
IN	ON	OUT OF

B Now complete the following sentences with a suitable prepositional phrase. Choose from the ones above. There is an example at the beginning (0).

D Owls usually hunt at night. They can see really well in the dark.

1 'May I join you?'
'Yes, _____.'

2 'I hear you're going to Spain. A holiday?'
'No, unfortunately, I have to go there _____.'

3 I've put on nearly three kilos. I think I'd better go _____.

4 I know her _____, but I've no idea what her name is.

Now use six of the expressions to complete the following sentences.

- 16 It's good to _____ your appearance, but try not to be vain!
- 17 There are so many developments in computer technology nowadays, I just can't _____ them all.
- 18 Please _____ everything I say, because I shall say it only once. Understood?
- 19 My daughter found it easy to _____ other children, but my son was very shy and was mostly alone.
- 20 Our English teacher is nice because she praises us a lot, but most of the other teachers seem to _____ everything we do.
- 21 You want cut-price DVDs? Then _____ our bargain offers. At least 30% off list price!!

It is important to learn these expressions by heart, and in particular to be careful not to insert an article between verb and noun. For example, use the expression catch sight of and people will be impressed by your command of English, but if you say catch the sight of, it will spoil the effect!

21 'Mummy, what do humans have _____ apes?'

'Well, dear, judging by your father, I'd say they were both hairy and scratch a lot.'

22 Sometimes, couples who really ought to split up will stay together _____ the children.

Some of these compound prepositions are used in everyday speech, e.g., in favour of. However, many of them are formal written expressions, for which there is an everyday equivalent, e.g. A teacher is more likely to say I want to speak to you about your work rather than I want to speak to you with regard to your homework.

Prepositions frequently occur at the end of a sentence, as in Where are you from? or I don't know what the world is coming to. Nobody would say From where are you? or To what is the world coming? Similarly, people say Who are you talking about? rather than About whom are you talking? (although the latter is correct, of course).

Particles and prepositions

SECTION 2

Fill in the missing prepositions or adverb particles in the following passage. There is an example at the beginning (0).

THE CURSE OF TUTANKHAMUN

Most people scoff (0) at the idea of curses coming true, but the events that followed the opening (1) _____ Tutankhamun's tomb (2) _____ Howard Carter (3) _____ 1922 may make them think twice (4) _____ laughing.

The story (5) _____ the curse began when the last man climbed out (6) _____ the tomb. It is said that a sudden sandstorm blew (7) _____ and that the men (8) _____ the party saw a hawk, the ancient royal symbol (9) _____ Egypt, fly overhead.

Local Egyptians took this to mean that the spirit (10) _____ the dead king had left his tomb, cursing those who had opened it. Five months later, the man who financed the expedition, Lord Caernarvon, was bitten (11) _____ the cheek (12) _____ a mosquito. Normally nothing too serious! But the bite became infected and Caernarvon caught pneumonia and died (13) _____ an Egyptian hospital.

(14) _____ the precise moment (15) _____ his death, all the lights (16) _____ Cairo went (17) _____, and thousands (18) _____ miles away (19) _____ the Caernarvon mansion (20) _____ Hampshire, England, his dog began to howl – and died (21) _____ the night. Doctors who examined the mummified body (22) _____ Tutankhamun reported that he had a small depression (23) _____ his cheek, just like a mosquito bite, (24) _____ exactly the same spot where Caernarvon had been bitten.

Many people who visited the tomb also died (25) _____ claimed they were descended (27) _____ the pharaohs was murdered (28) _____ London and his brother committed suicide. An American railway tycoon caught a cold while (29) _____ the tomb and died (30) _____ pneumonia.

The man who helped Howard Carter to catalogue the items found (31) _____ the tomb committed suicide, and a few months later his father jumped (32) _____ his death
(33) _____ the balcony (34) _____ his London flat.
There was an alabaster vase (35) _____ the tomb
(36) _____ the room that he jumped
(37) _____ (two words).

(38) _____ 1966 the government (39) _____
Egypt agreed to lend the treasures (40) _____ France
(41) _____ an important exhibition. The Director
(42) _____ the Antiquities fought (43) _____ the decision, because he had dreamed that he would die if he allowed the treasures to go (44) _____ (2 words) Egypt. When he left the last meeting, still trying to make the authorities change their minds, he was knocked down (45) _____ a car and died two days later.

And Howard Carter who was the first man (46) _____
the tomb? He died - (47) _____ natural causes -
(48) _____ 1939.

Sentence construction

The two most important elements in sentence construction in English are sequence of tenses and word order.

- Sequence of tenses

The meaning changes depending on the tense used, e.g.:

If you hadn't given him the money, he wouldn't have gone to South America.
(he's already gone)

If you hadn't given him the money, he wouldn't be going to South America next week. (he hasn't gone yet)

I wish you wouldn't do that. (you are doing something I disapprove of)

I wish you hadn't done that (you did something I disapprove of)

- Word order

It is clear that The dog bit the man is different from The man bit the dog, but what about the difference between [1] He carefully opened the box and [2] He opened the box carefully? or between [3] Let's meet on Friday at 12 o'clock and [4] Let's meet at 12 o'clock on Friday? Whatever comes at the beginning or end of the phrase (called front focus and end focus) is emphasised. So, sentence [1] simply states a fact, whereas [2] draws our attention to how he opened the box, i.e. carefully; sentence [3] draws your attention to the TIME (i.e. 12 o'clock), and sentence [4] highlights which DAY we should meet (i.e. Friday).

'If you hadn't given him the money, he wouldn't be going to South America.'

15 Position of adjectives and adverbs

Put the adjectives in the correct places and in the right order in the following sentences. There is an example at the beginning (0).

She bought a handbag in the sale. (leather, brown)

She brought a brown leather handbag in the sale.

He bought a bunch of roses. (yellow, sweet-smelling)

The nextdoor neighbour's cat has soft fur. (grey, lovely)

3 The hotel was owned by a businessman. (tall, German, middle-aged)

They lived in a house. (three-bedroomed, semi-detached, brand new)

5 My brother loves sports cars. (red, Italian, fast)

6 In the middle of the room was a coffee table. (oval, superb, oak)

7 Where did you get this vase from? (old, magnificent, Japanese)

8 I love meals. (tasty, hot, Indian)

9 He was wearing a jacket. (shabby, cream, old, linen)

10 Outside the Town Hall was a statue. (marble, huge, triangular, black)

B Put the adverbs in the best places in the following sentences. There is an example at the beginning (0).

0 We have a lie-in on Sunday morning. (usually)
We usually have a lie-in on Sunday morning.

1 The children go riding on Saturdays. (sometimes)

2 I was pretending. I wouldn't have chopped your finger off! (only, really)

3 Carol's daughter plays the violin. (beautifully)

4 My brother finishes work on Fridays. (nearly always, early)

5 I don't go to the theatre. My sister, on the other hand, goes. (often, regularly)

6 I don't understand why Joanna didn't want to come to my party. (still)

- 7 George hasn't done much work so he'll fail the exam. (probably)
- 8 I disagree with you! Watching football live is better than watching it on TV. (completely, definitely)
- 9 'Where's Rose?'
'She's gone home.' (just)
- 10 'Is my omelette ready?' (yet)
'No, dear, I'm waiting for the hen to lay the eggs!' (still)

Adjectives usually go in this order:

- 1 Value 2 Size 3 Age/Temperature 4 Shape 5 Colour 6 Origin
7 Material

Rather than trying to remember that order (and it is unusual to have more than three adjectives together anyway), it is better to remember a few key phrases, e.g.

a beautiful	old	Chinese	vase
value	age	origin
a huge	black	metal	box
size	colour	material

- Unreal conditionals are those which describe an impossible or unfulfilled condition, and then describe the consequences:
If the Queen were a man, she would be King.
- There is also the conditional which describes not what is, but what might have been. It is often used to express regret:
If I hadn't gone to the disco, I wouldn't have lost my teeth in a fight.
- Note these two similar constructions:
If you add water to copper sulphate, it turns blue. (i.e., if here means every time you do it)
If you kiss me, I will tell my mother. (i.e. my telling is conditional on your

7 Ambiguous wording

The following newspaper extracts, headlines, etc. are written in such a way that there is an extra, unexpected meaning to the one that was intended – often with amusing results. Explain the ‘other’ meaning. There is an example at the beginning (0).

- 0 Dear milkman, Baby arrived yesterday. Please leave another.
Unexpected meaning: Please leave another baby.
- 1 It is bad manners to break your bread and roll in your soup.

- 2 Angry bull injures farmer with a gun.

- 7 He won't play for our club _____ we pay him.
- 8 We didn't go on holiday this year _____ we couldn't afford it.
- 9 _____ you don't try, then how do you know you can't do it?
- 10 I wouldn't go out with her _____ she was the last woman on earth!

Conjunctions show relationships between sentences and clauses, e.g., reason, as in I am tired because I have worked too hard; purpose, as in it now so that you can relax later. There are a few compound conjunctions. As far as I know, David is in Bahia; It's all right to surf the net as long as you don't spend all your time at the computer.*

19 Word order

Rearrange the words in the sentences below to form twelve correct questions.
(Add capital letters, question marks and other punctuation marks where necessary.) There is an example at the beginning (0).

0 the train when last does leave
When does the last train leave?

1 know Mariarosa do here you works if

2 you way tell station me could to excuse the please me the 11 been South country any ever to you American Brazil have or other

12 the can on what a coffee leave time it and does you get bus

107

Word order can change to place emphasis on some part of the sentence. e.g. I usually get up at six o'clock simply states a fact, but Usually, I get up at six o'clock prepares us for a completion like ... but lately I have been getting up much later. Where no particular emphasis is required, the usual adverbial order is manner (how), place (where) and time (when), e.g. He slipped quietly out of the house just after midnight.

What's the question?

Rewrite the following questions to ask about the words in bold type. There is an example at the beginning (0).

The ring cost £200,000.

How much did the ring cost?

She sees her sister three times a week.

Karen's husband works in Singapore.

Paul weighs seventy-five kilos.

The team plays football at least three times a week.

David has lived in Australia since 1992.

The group had to wait ages to get through customs.

The family finally got home last night at 11.30.

Jill has bright red hair.

Sam bought three pairs of shoes in the sales.

Peter's brother is a famous soccer player.

- 11 He paid for the goods with a credit card.
- 12 San Diego is about two hours by car from LA.
- 13 She met her boyfriend at an open-air pop concert.
- 14 He only has coffee for breakfast.
- 15 They arrested him for shoplifting.
- 16 My mother spoke Italian fluently as a child.
- 17 This pen once belonged to his great grandfather.
- 18 Jane has a white sports car.

Remember that the word after the question word is always part of the verb. Where there is an auxiliary (have, is, etc.) or modal (can, should, etc.) that goes after the question-word: Where have you been? What can you tell me? In the case of the simple tenses, you have to 'supply' an auxiliary, that is, do, does or did: e.g., He went becomes Where did he go? Avoid the common mistakes such as Where he went? and Where did he went?

Sources of confusion

(similar words and structures)

There are several causes of confusion, usually because of interference from our mother tongue:

- One word in English, for two words in another language, e.g. be in English, ser and estar in Spanish.
- Two words in English for one word in another language, e.g. make and do in English, fare in Italian.
- The same idea expressed in different ways in the two languages, e.g., I read a book last night could be chital or prochital in Russian depending on whether I just read part of it or read the whole book from cover to cover.
- False friends (faux amis in French), that is, words which are similar in appearance but which mean something different or are used in a different way: eventual (English) is not the same as eventuel (German); control (English) is not the same as controllare (Italian); office (English) is not the same as ofis (Turkish) and so on.
- Presence or absence of grammatical features, e.g. the definite article (the) and when to omit it. This is a nightmare for people whose language does not have a definite article (e.g. Russian, Turkish), or who have something very like the English definite article, but who use it very differently (e.g. Arabic).
- Singular and plural differences. For example, people and police are plural in English but singular in many other languages. Information and advice are singular in English, but plural in many other languages.

22 The definite and indefinite article

In the following sentences put in a/an or the, but only where necessary. There is an example at the beginning (0).

- 0 First of all we went to _____ Lake Garda and then we went walking in the Alps.

- 20 It's hard to imagine _____ without television, isn't it? What on earth would you do in the evenings?

In some cases, we use either the to-infinitive or the -ing form, but with a change of meaning. This stone is really heavy: try to lift it, as against If you have hiccups, try holding your breath. Sometimes the difference is very small: [1] I like to cook Indian food when my friends come for dinner, as against [2] I like cooking Indian meals for friends. In sentence [1], I am thinking about individual occasions when I cook for my friends; in sentence [2] I am thinking about a general habit that I have.

'Did you go _____ last night?'

'No, we had _____ friends round for a meal.'

'Can I help you?'

'Yes, I'd like _____ information about trains from London to Edinburgh, please. Are there _____ early in the morning?'

10 We haven't got _____ milk. Pop out and get _____, would you, please?

11 These, without _____ doubt, are _____ of the biggest pumpkins I have ever seen. They should definitely win first prize in the Garden Show.

The simple rule that some is used with positive statements, and any is used with negatives is a good one: I need some money, I haven't got any money. Remember that words like hardly and scarcely are also negative: I scarcely had any time left to eat anything.

In questions, we use any if we are just asking for information: Is there any cake left? But sometimes a question is really an invitation or a request, in which case we would probably use some, as in Would you like some more tea? Would somebody please help me load the car?

Make/do + noun expressions

Why do we say make a mistake but do your homework? Make has the idea of creating (producing) something which didn't exist before; do has the idea of performing an action on something which already exists. But does this help you to understand why we say make the bed and do business? In the end, it is easier just to memorise the whole expression! And if you are not sure, use make.

Use of English Part 1

Cloze with multiple choice

In the examination ...

- Parts 1 and 2 in the Use of English paper consist of a text with gaps (missing words). In Part 1, you are offered four alternatives from which to choose the one that fits in the gap. Mostly all the alternatives fit grammatically, but only one makes sense. (A sentence such as I like to wear an elephant on my head. is grammatically correct, but it makes no sense). You need therefore to look carefully at the meaning of the whole sentence to see which word makes sense.
- Beware of false friends! Examiners love to test words like control, pretend and actual, because these words look like words in other languages, but mean something different.

'The policeman is trying to control the traffic.'

THE NEW CHINA

All is not well in the state of China. Most people who (0) A an interest in China know that, in the days when all industry was (1) _____ by the state, the workers had their basic needs taken care of. They did not (2) _____ much, but they could be sure of a house or flat, health care, education and a pension.

This was the 'iron rice-bowl'. But what happens when the bowl breaks, as is happening now with the (3) _____ of private industry and the end of the welfare state?

The trend is clear. In some provinces, fewer than half the workers are now (4) _____ by the state. By the end of the next decade, at least a quarter of China's (5) _____ will be privately or self employed. When this happens, China will need to look for ways of replacing state welfare.

Take housing. Foreign companies increasingly (6) _____ housing in order to attract the workers they want. As to health care, the end of free medicine is already (7) _____. Under the old system, if a state worker needed (8) _____, the hospital simply sent the bill to his factory. Today, state firms (9) _____ part of the fee from a worker's pay.

Some even (10) _____ private medical insurance. (11) _____ pensions are concerned, personal pensions, bought through life insurance companies, are said to be growing in number by 25% a year. Many towns are experimenting with pooled pension funds from all businesses, state and private, with workers (12) _____ about two percent of their income. This (13) _____ well in places with lots of young people and high growth, but in areas of declining economy, pooling means more people getting less.

Taken with China's other problems – (14) _____ inflation, rising unemployment and an increasing crime rate in the big cities – it is not surprising that some people (15) _____ the coming of private enterprise as a mixed blessing.

Use of English Part 2

Cloze with gaps

In the examination ...

In this part, there are gaps but no alternatives are given. You have to find a word that (a) fits grammatically (b) makes sense. In making your choice of the word to go in the gap, check first that it makes sense; and secondly that it is grammatically correct.

Note that, although the examiners try to make sure that there is only one possibility, there may sometimes be more than one solution.

Many of the words tested are 'structural' words like auxiliary verbs, modals, articles and prepositions.

This is also the place where 'collocations' are tested, that is, fixed expressions such as make fun of, fall in love with, by means of, look down on.

Use of English Part 4

Error correction

In the examination ...

The errors are usually the 'little words' like prepositions, verbs and adverbs. The examiners have one or two favourite tricks, especially mixing up two expressions by adding a word which belongs to the word before it, but not to the word after it.

A few examples:

- After finishing my degree, I took out a job in a big computer company.

Here, the confusion is between the verb take out and the expression take a job.

- I will have no any difficulty.

Here the confusion is between have no difficulty and not have any difficulty, made even more confusing by the possibility of not any difficulty (although not in this context).

- My teacher will be too pleased to support my application.

Here the confusion is between My teacher will be pleased to ... and My teacher will be only too pleased to ...

The only way to beat the examiner is by very careful reading of ALL the words, especially the 'little words'.

'After finishing his degree, he took a job in a big computer company.'

THE LADY VANISHES

- 0 In 1889, an Englishwoman and her daughter, on a visit ✓
- 00 to the Great Exhibition in Paris, checked up into one of the up
- 1 most expensive hotels there. Each they had her own room. The
- 2 daughter wanted to have take in the sights and sounds of the
- 3 city immediately but her mother, tired after the trip, wanted to
- 4 sleep. The girl accordingly she went out alone, strolled the
- 5 Champs Elysées and saw the Eiffel Tower. When has she
- 6 returned to her mother's room for six hours later, she found it
- 7 empty. There was no sign of her mother ever having been there.
- 8 When she asked the manager he insisted on that no one at the
- 9 hotel had seen her or her mother to check in. The mother had
- 10 disappeared away! The desperate girl searched for weeks
- 11 before that finally returning to England. She died ten years later
- 12 in a mental hospital. So that what was the explanation? After the
- 13 daughter had been gone sightseeing, her mother had complained
- 14 to the hotel doctor that she felt ill. It turned out so that she
- 15 had contracted the plague! Hotel staff were instructed but not to
- 16 say a word to anyone about it, in case visitors panicked and left
- the city. No one knows what happened to the mother.

Use of English Part 5

World building

In the examination ...

This part of the Use of English paper tests your knowledge of affixes, the means by which words are changed into other related words. There are two kinds of affixes:

prefixes are added to the front of words, e.g., able → enable, happy → unhappy suffixes are added to the end of words, e.g., wide → width, wise → wisdom, offend → offensive.

- Prefixes

positive to negative: happy-unhappy; satisfied-dissatisfied; eligible-ineligible verbs: large-enlarge, tell-foretell, charge-overcharge

- Suffixes

verb-noun:	approve-approval, suspect-suspicion, speak-speech
noun-adjective:	hope-hopeful, noise-noisy
verb-adjective:	widen-wide, repeat-repetitive adjective-noun:	long-length, mad-madness, wise-wisdom
verb-adjective:	falsify-false

- Traps to beware of:

Spelling

Very often the base word changes when the affix is added, as in wide – width, satisfy – satisfactory

-ible or -able

If in doubt, use -able. The rule of thumb is that if the root is a recognisable noun or verb, the adjective will end in -able: rely – reliable, value – valuable (capable and probable are exceptions).

The double change

You may have to make more than one change to the base word, e.g. the meaning of the sentence requires not satisfactory but unsatisfactory, which you have to form from the base word SATISFY.

Note: in the exam, correct spelling is required.

Grammatical terms

Traditionally, the language is divided into nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions and conjunctions. Knowing the grammatical terms is not the same thing as knowing the language, just as knowing about the language is not the same thing as being able to use the language. Still, it helps sometimes to know these grammatical terms if you want to talk about the language, for example, to give or listen to an explanation of a structure.

The terms tested here are ones that are widely used by teachers and students all over the world, but you may come across others. For example, what most call the past perfect (I had done) is called the pluperfect by some others.

Other terms have been introduced which, though useful, are not widely known. For example, determiners (a, the, this, that, etc.), distributives (each, every, all, etc.), quantifiers (much, many, etc.). We have not tested these, but you may come across them in more modern grammars.
